July 2023

Summer has finally arrived in Milwaukee. The waters of Lake Michigan have finally warmed enough to let our air temperatures feel like summer. People are out enjoying the sun and waters of Wisconsin. Milwaukee has no shortage of things to do or take in over the summer. There are ethnic festivals, Summerfest, Bastille Days, Jazz in the Park, concerts that take place in many county park band shells and gazebos; outdoor patios to enjoy lunch and dinner. Whatever your summer plans are, enjoy the time we have with this weather before it all changes again.

Summer is also a time where we have a chance to reflect and renew ourselves and get ready for the busy upcoming fall season. There are many opportunities that present themselves for renewal. The AGO has regional conventions, ALCM, AAM, PAM and NPM all have opportunities for their members to meet at conventions and workshops to help renew, engage, and learn from each other. Augsburg Fortress and GIA both sponsor summer reading sessions and clinics in different areas of the country. They also afford us the opportunity to meet friends and colleagues and renew, engage, and learn from each other. Many organizations now also offer virtual options for their clinics and workshops. While it is always nice to be in person, the virtual option also now helps us stay connected and present new opportunities that may not have been an option for you in the past. The AGO national website, agohq.org/webinars, also has a variety of webinars and workshops that have been recorded and are available on the national website. Take a couple minutes to explore and see what you can find. It may just be what you needed to help renew your spirit and get ready for the busy fall season.

Please join us for our 50th Concert Season!
